PRINCIPAL'S

PRAISES

Thank-you both for all your committment in making our school the best!

Mr. Guilbeault Describe the most memorable moment of the year and how it affected you?

I will never forget the false alarm of a weapon in the school. This is the first time in 31 years that we had to be concerned about the safety of students and staff under such a threat. Trying to keep a whole school, and parents calm about these things is very difficult. Even when I was in the line of fire I had to always think about the safety of everyone.

What is the most rewarding aspect of your job? That would be making a difference in every student's life. I teach them about values, to respect people, and invite them to be active within the school. Caring about one person has a ripple effect on other people. It's like throwing a stone in a pond; the splash creates a ripple that reaches the shore.

Tell us the worst time of day for you and how you cope with it. There is no specific time of day but it is when I have to make a decision of priority. I have to decide in a moment of crisis of who is first, second and last. I hope not to make a mistake; but this is a judgment call.

If you could walk in another person's footprints, who would it be? Since I like to interact with and influence people I would choose to walk in the Prime Minister's footprints. He has the duty to create a place where people are better, make a difference, and enhance the quality of life. I have pride in our country and this would be something I would love to do.

What will you miss most about SCI? I will miss the students, the people, the excitement about life, dreaming of future careers, and being a part of this process.

How will you spend your retirement? I have no set plans. I would like to work at the Ministry level; work on the Francophone section of the curriculum. I also wish to spend time with my family and travel.

Any parting words of wisdom? Set your dreams as high as you can and never look back. The future is yours, do what you want to do and be what you want to be. Remember to always reach for the stars.

Mrs. Buchanan Describe the most memorable moment of the year and how it affected you?

There are many moments that are memorable. Any time people say something positive about the school and show their pride in their school I feel it is a memorable moment.

What is the most rewarding aspect of your job?

Visiting classrooms is rewarding for me. I get feedback from students and I see the progress they all make. I also love when students say hello to me.

Tell us the worst time of day for you and how you cope with it. There are no bad times in the school for me; I love this school. SCI is the best school in the universe.

If you could walk in another person's footprints, who would it be? I would not want to walk in anyone else's footprints; I love what I do here at SCITS.

Why is SCI the best school in the universe? It is the best because the students are open and honest at SCI. I appreciate this tremendously. SCI's enthusiasm makes working here a pleasure. The staff is committed and skilled and works with the students in such a positive way. Also, the community is extremely supportive towards our school which helps make SCI the very best!

REACH FOR THE STARS!

STUDENT COUNCIL

SCITS GRIT
 AND WE DON'T
 QUIT

This year student council has a full plate. Kicking off the year with Homecoming and our infamous blue and white day, we had school spirit overflowing the halls of SCI. With over 133 hand made bomber planes, the students of SCITS broke our previous record at 130 planes. Up next was Halloween and our awesome pumpkin carving contest. With almost every home room entering a pumpkin, we had a great display of unique pumpkins. In December, we kick off our 1st annual White Ribbon Campaign, which supports ending violence against women. With the proceeds we sponsored a needy family at the Women's Interval Home who was subject to abuse. The Christmas assembly was another huge success, and shows once again, the amazing talents of SCITS students. Dust Fest and Smash Fest also re-inforced the strong musical background here at SCI. School dances, Wet and Wild day, and the Big Bike for Stroke all helped raise school spirit and help out the community. Also, our new Student Council office was a great help to organize and keep us on track. A great idea for this year, and many years to follow. Great job SCI!

HEARTS OF TRUE BLUE

It is now late November and I have been asked to write a few words about my upcoming retirement. The only problem is I really haven't thought much about it. Or maybe I should say haven't wanted to think about it. Now don't get the wrong idea- I am looking forward to my retirement. But, at the same time, I AM NOT LOOKING FORWARD TO LEAVING SCITS. One might ask why would I miss getting up early every weekday at 6:30 a.m., leaving home, and not returning until sometime between 4:00-6:00 p.m. (depending on the season)? Why would I miss preparing lessons in science, mathematics, phys.ed., art, and career studies? Why would I miss marking exams and handing out reports 4 times a year? The answer is really quite simple. I will miss the place because of you- THE STUDENTS OF SCITS. You have been a source of pride, and a source of joy, for me for the past 22 years that I have spent at this school. You have amazed me with your abilities, your talents, and your enthusiasm. I have enjoyed the performances put on by our choir, our bands, and our drama department. Hopefully many of you will continue your endeavours in these areas. I have thoroughly enjoyed 22 years of the SCITS' REVUE and will continue to attend these performances for years to come. As an art teacher, year after year, I have been truly impressed, and inspired myself, with the high quality of works produced by the art students of all grade levels. Please continue to draw and paint- even as you pursue interests in other programs beyond your years here. As a former Phys. Ed. teacher, I am thankful for the opportunity I have had to coach so many terrific SCITS athletes over the years. I have also enjoyed watching so many of you participating on teams that I did not coach. I will never forget "SCITS GRIT_ WE DON'T QUIT". To all of our present, and future athletes- remember that phrase; whatever the season, whatever the sport. I have always been proud to be associated with SCITS' athletics, and I will continue to watch you on the field, the court, the track, and the ice. You have indeed made me proud and kept me young in spirit. I will never, ever forget this place and how much YOU THE STUDENTS have meant to me. Take care, Guzz.

SCITS has been fortunate to have Mr. McLellan aka "Ricky Ricky" as a teacher and counsellor for the duration of his career for 31 years. He started teaching here in 1972 as a business teacher in his 1st year, then went into Phys. Ed. and then counselling in 1985. What Mr. McLellan will miss the most is the friendly teachers, the pleasant students he has worked with over the years, and the family atmosphere we have in our school. His most enjoyable experience at SCI has been coaching so many tremendous athletes. Some of his most memorable moments have been having his daughter, Mrs. Amy Brand, attend SCITS as a student, coaching her, and having her become a teacher at SCITS as well. Another memorable moment would have been the greatest success in 1987 when the girls won The All Ontario Basketball Championship. Mr. McLellan's last words of wisdom to the student body is to "Enjoy school, and to do that one has to get involved. When playing, play hard, and when working, work hard." One of his funniest moments at SCITS would have been for "Mighty Mac" a dog, a group of teachers way back, that stomped on top of his vehicle and caved the roof in. During his retirement he plans to travel, play lots of golf and play with his grandkids.

Mr. Dennis Gusba

Mr. Rick McLellan

Mr. Jerry Shuster

Thanks for your years of dedication and encouragement! We'll miss you!

Eureka! I have found it! Just what is it that I have found, you ask? RETIREMENT! What ever is that? I finally get to join the exodus from the public education system. Is this what it is? As I think about this, oh, what a treasure (a diamond in the rough) that I am leaving behind! After 30 continuous years of cultivating inquisitive minds, plowing through mental quagmires and planting strategies for problem solving, I now embark on contemplating inertia (a body at rest remains at rest or a body in uniform motion remains in uniform motion) S.C.I.T.S. These letters will forever (lest I forget) conjure up STUDENTS, COLLEAGUES, INTERMURALS, TESTS, and SURPRISES. I'll miss them all. Some things I will remember. I'll remember 2002-09-27, that day that I peered down the business end of police rifles. My heart stopped that day and my feet felt 12 g's. I'll remember the CANNON. I'll remember class schedules (ABCDBADCACDC), bells and tones, pep rallies, football games, dances, reviews, class parties, assemblies, false fire alarms, cafeteria garbage cans, exams, the phantom crapper, and the ghosts of SCITS (there really are ghosts that wander the halls of your mind as you reminisce). I'll remember a myriad of names and faces (but not simultaneously) of you, the students, as we struggled together to understand the beauty of knowledge and the fleeting of wisdom. I'll remember my waxing and waning colleagues as we struggled together to give you the students the best possible lesson deliveries. Should the methods of scientific inquiry have infected your minds, I hope that it had not dampened your inquisitive nature. Search the fields of knowledge, push back the frontiers of science and wax in wisdom; these are my wishes for you. I hope to continue this journey, be it at a somewhat more leisurely pace. SCITUR AD ASTRA, a noble motto for your school, remember it and live it. All the best to you SCITS, the waters are rough but the mighty ship continues to sail.

Mr. Bill McNamara

Mr. McNamara aka "Mr. Mac" has been teaching at SCITS since 1982 totaling 22 years. He also taught 8 years at Sarnia Central (St. Patrick's) and 1 year at Kirkland Lake High School with Mr. Gusba. SCITS has been blessed to have had such a dedicated teacher to the Wrestling program. What Mr. McNamara will miss most about SCITS is the people, the teachers, the students he has made friends with throughout the years, coaching, the fun activities around school that build school spirit, the Review, Football games, and the whole SCITS atmosphere which is very positive. One of his most proudest moments is last year at OFSSAA Wrestling when he coached Mike Huckle and Bobby Thompson to OFSSAA gold medals. Mr. Mac's advice to everyone is "Just remember that life is short, believe in yourself and do it right." An embarrassing moment for him is when he continuously loses his keys on a daily basis. During his retirement he plans to go fishing, bicycling with his wife, gardening and do some reading. Mr. Mac has learned a great deal from staff and students and he hopes that he has given insight into students life learning skills.

Hey all you hockey fans, SCITS was back in the LSSAA league play this year after taking last season off. 20 players wore the Bomber Blue throughout the year in 12 regular season games. 16 of those Bombers contributed by putting points on the board, but none more than, Ed Scott, who had a team high of 8. Exceptional goal tending can be attributed to both Scott Bishop and Eric Walker who represented SCITS with outstanding performances between the pipes.

SCITS Hockey would like to thank Bayer for their generous donation which made this year possible. The money was arranged and presented by Mr. Terry Soeder. Head Coach Mr. Allen would also like to thank the hard work and dedication of his coaching staff which included: Mr. Barnes, Mr. Bedard, Mr. Cornell and Mr. Soeder.

force came on the heels of finishing the season 3-0 versus St. Francois and this took them into the final LSSAA tournament at St. Clair. The team had their close calls with every game and their efforts finally paid off with wins against St. Pat's,

St. Francois and Northern. In the final game, our veterans, Natalie (scoop) Armstrong, Linda (WHAT?) McBeth, Beth (don't call me ugly!) Fraser, Kim (I don't kick the ball this time)

Doyon, Amy Henry and Maranda (I'm the quiet one) White, finished their highschool volleyball careers all together with an impressive win! Cheers to the departing Seniors and great team spirit by the remaining players.

This was a big transition year for the bombers wrestling squad, Mac retired, Mr. Campbell took over and we co-ran OFSSAA at the SSEC. Mr. Roddey Allen, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Mac were so impressed with all our wrestlers and how they performed throughout the year. Without the dedication of our wrestlers and their parents we would not have been able to carry on SCITS' winning ways. To see the beauty
That is beyond words.

Nothing

I feel nothing,
And nothing consumes me,
It's like I feel in a hole,
But didn't know it.
A strange feeling occurs
Like the tingle down your spine,
When I realize what I've done,
I wasted a precious gift,
One I feel that was only out on loan,
From God to me, the gift of life and time,
Were given, lovingly and caringly,
But I wasted it for nothing,
And because of this I feel nothing
And nothing consumes me.

IN THEIR OWN WORDS PART 7

Frail Soul

By Laurel Chudy

I am but a frail body
Holding a broken spirit
Being pricked with less than a pin
Drawing blood that sustains my life

I can be crushed, broken and bruised
I am nothing in this world
Doomed to disappoint
And to be disappointed
Unable to understand
To die, to leave this world
To breathe no more

I am but a frail girl
But I can hold a hand and give comfort
Looking inside someone's world
Reaching into someone's soul
I can watch the world in pain
But continue to love
And enjoy the mud on my bare feet
I will never change this world
I'll never be someone in history books
I may never do anything brave or daring
I will die however
Perhaps even be forgotten
Yet for a short time
I am able to breathe, to dance, to live

I am but a frail soul
In a lonely world
But I can love

I am but a frail person
In a very fragile world
Where history is doomed to repeat
Never learning
I can't understand a world engulfed
in death
Watching others die
Yet feeling indestructible
Will we not all die one day?

-dreamesphere-

By Felicity Huang

I live in a glass globe world surrounded by delicate flowers and even more delicate memoriesshrouded in mist i stand in the rustling silence with a garland of cool white lilies tightly woven about my neck and a circlet of starlight on my head-the wind comes and about me the flowers blossom but i am not herei am in Eden-
through my eyes i see not this world but another and i hear your joyful laughter and i smile-the tears on my face are cold and with my hands like ice i reach up to touch a star-
the scent of apple-blossoms drifts in with the dawn and through the pink mists the sun rises
a huge glowing orb crimson and smooth-i watch the new day come gliding in to this world of mine
my little sphere of light
a brilliant white jewel in an azure sky caught in the fragile rainbow-web of time which is unravelling at the edgesthe stars at my feet are reflected in my eyes and i stand transfixed while the universe falters and the galaxies shift out of kilterabout me in the wind memories of the future swirl in giddy patterns while i braid my lilies and around me in the grass angels' voices murmur softly-
i close my eyes and with my fingertips touch the cold band of silver firm about my throat-my lilies fade and fall rippling in the water i stand ini look out to see but reality is lost to me as it ever was and now i can see the glittering glass-pieces sharp-edged and shining scattered like teardrops and caught amid the ever changing rainbow-i feel the last light fading
white and clear on my outstretched arms until it is gone
and the final twilight comes-

The Return of the Elves

By Marla Desat

To the call of pipes, of harps and of bells
Come they to sylvan glade and river's side
The haunting flute sings, the beat of drums swell
In ethereal woods elves cease to hide

Immortals, both majestic and savage
Pale as the willow and clear as the night
Voices like song, a-singing their language
Ancient and exquisite as dawn's first light

Dancing in gowns of silken gossamer
Men in fine blues and the ladies in greens
Voices raised in sweet song to the dreamer
Nightmare and muse to both paupers and queens

Elves are the dream, instinctual and wild
The world will return to nature's true child

Fading Away

The sun drops slowly in the horizon
The shadows creep in
She shivers in the dark
Afraid to let the night begin

Will he ever return to her?
As swift as the wind blows
Will he appear through the mist?
Nobody will ever know

The sun is gone now
She's afraid to go and seek
Will she ever find him?
No, she's just a freak

IN THEIR OWN WORDS PART 2

Butterfly

By Marley Weiler

More delicate than a flower
As beautiful as the sunset
It smiles as it flies about
Dances daringly from dusk until dawn
As soft as a mother's touch
Swoosh as it soars through the air
It is a flame sparkling in the night
Butterfly

Flight

By Justin Wall

I walked through a
door,
A mysterious door,
And turned into a bird.
I flew away,
Far, far away.

She

She is a valley- lush, beautiful and full of life
Hard to get to, but well worth the hike
She is your favourite pair of jeans, fitting just so right
Being sure they don't shrink and become too tight
Her body is like a guitar- her skin like the golden wood
To play it beautifully, I really wish I could
Her personality like a beach- sunny, playful and ever changing
Exposing different elements when the tide is rearranging
Her love like the highest mountain top- unable to reach
But I the determined climber, I strive for the highest peak

By Jacob Schieman

Trees

They grow for years, years and years.
They do not speak.
They have no ears.
They stand alone day and night.
They endure the seasons with great might.
They see our sins and our greatness.
If only they could speak our weakness.

By Amanda Hudder

Only Six

I have no father
And I have many fears
I am only six.
But life has left me in tears

My name does not matter
My story like the rest,
I'll drop out of high school
And get pregnant at best

Life is not easy.
In the nowhere place I live
Someone shot everyday
Others with nothing left to give

My clothes are not mine
They're my sisters, a friend's
I can't be in style
And I can't follow the trends

I am only six
But I know more than you
Of all the horrors of life
And things kids shouldn't go through

I've seen the violence, the drugs
I know it all
I have no expectations
The best I can do is fall

My mother loves me
But her boyfriend hits
I don't think she'll be around long
Unless he finally quits

I just want to live
Like those families on TV
I am only six
Why can't they see?

CLASSIC

HORRORS

ROCKIN THE AUD.

Ben Ainsworth, Jason Brander, Micah Walter and Micheal Maughan make up the band Juicebox Jr. Although the band has played together for many years, it was a grade 11 Christmas concert that solidified their reputation. Fortunately, the environment here at S.C.I.T.S. is a positive one for musicians. They credit Ms. Catton, Ms. Dath, Mr. Rooke and Mr. Spettigue as encouraging their development, and they would also like to recognize the student body for continually receiving them well. They reflect on influences like U2, Rush, Led Zeppelin and emphasize that music is simply a great way to have fun. For this band, music is definitely not about image or competition and even as frontmen come and go, including Brian Austin Jr., Tony Frangis, Lindsay Dell and Dave Russell, this band see themselves performing well into the future. Considering many of their family members are musicians, this is an art form that lasts throughout life.

DIPLOMACY FAILED. George W. Bush decided that Saddam Hussein's time had run out. Without UN approval, Bush and allied Britain embarked on a military campaign in Iraq, prompting millions of people to protest the action world-wide. Prime Minister Jean Chrétien refused to back the action, citing the failure to get UN support. During the early stages, allied bombs destroyed many government buildings in Baghdad, as coalition ground troops made their way towards the capital. In some key areas, Iraqi resistance was strong, resulting in higher-than-expected coalition casualties. (AP/Jean-Marc Bouju)

PARADISE LOST. The al-Qaeda network apparently extended its deadly reach to the tourist haven of Bali, where a car bomb exploded outside a crowded nightclub in the popular Indonesian tourist area. Nearly 200 people, mostly Australians, but including one Canadian, were killed and hundreds injured. It was the largest act of terrorism since the attacks of Sept. 11. (AP/Achmad Ibrahim)

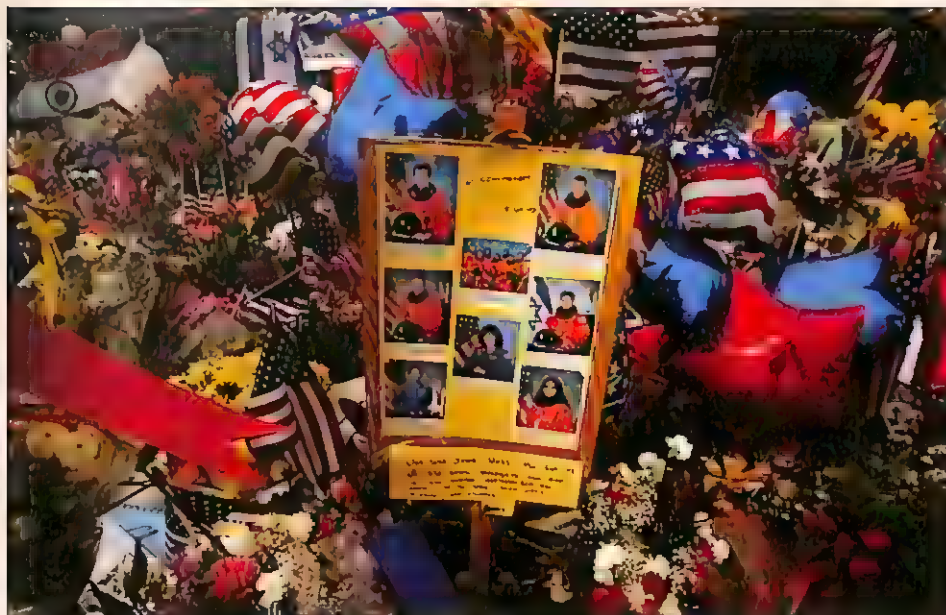

NOT SHORT ON CLASS. Despite standing only five-foot-two, the Queen Mum had lots of stature. As the public outpouring following her death in March proved, England's wartime Queen stood tall in the hearts and minds of her adoring public. Her death, at 101, came soon after contracting a cough and chest infection—and less than two months after the death of her daughter Margaret. (CP)

SOMEONE'S BEEN A GOOD BOY THIS YEAR. Santa came big time last Christmas for Andrew Whittaker Jr. The 55-year-old building contractor from Charleston, W.Va., won the US$314.9 million Dec. 25 jackpot—the biggest undivided lottery prize in U.S. history. He plans to expand his business, buy a helicopter, and give 10 per cent to the Church of God.

SHUTTLE SHOCK. Striking across the sky at 18 times the speed of sound and 207,000 feet above Texas, the space shuttle Columbia broke apart after re-entering the atmosphere in January. The oldest shuttle in NASA's fleet was returning home from a successful 16-day research mission, carrying a crew of six Americans and one Israeli—all of whom died. The disaster sparked a debate over the importance of space exploration. (AP/Barbara Davidson)

BLACK SEA. Carrying 77,000 tonnes of fuel oil, the Prestige oil tanker sank 210 km off north-western Spain—spilling one-quarter of its cargo and blackening coastline in Spain and France. Experts are still adding up the damage, but it has already reached into the millions of dollars lost to the fishery and tourism industries. (AP/Denis Doyle)

TARGET: UNKNOWN. A rogue sniper pair in the Washington, D.C. area went on a random killing rampage in October, causing nationwide fear. Not knowing when or where the lunatics might strike next, many people stayed close to home for fear that pumping gas or going to the mall put them at risk of being the next victim. The accused, John Allen Muhammad, 45, a decorated Gulf War vet (left), and his companion, 17-year-old John Lee Malvo, allegedly killed 10 people before being captured. (AP/John Chikwendu)

A NEW THREAT. North Korea has nuclear bombs and it is willing to use them. At least that's what leader Kim Jong Il has threatened, promising "total war" if America makes any attempt to disarm him. The U.S. responded by taking the nuclear proliferation dispute to the UN Security Council in an effort to apply diplomatic pressure on the rogue regime. (AP/Yun Jai-hyung)

TRAGIC ENDING. A Chechen hostage-taking in a Moscow theatre came to a deadly close when Russian commandos pumped gas into the building to incapacitate the attackers. Sadly, 119 of the 750 hostages died from the effects of what officials later admitted was Fentanyl, a powerful opium-based painkiller. Forty-one Chechen rebels were also killed in the rescue. (AP/NTV Russian Channel)

NO END IN SIGHT. Ariel Sharon and his centre-right Likud party were the big winners in Israel's January election, winning 37 of the Knesset's 120 seats. But with Palestinian suicide bombings and Israeli reprisals continuing, peace prospects appear as unlikely as ever. (AP/Leah S. Pinar)

Canadian Events

UNFRIENDLY SKIES. A 227-kg bomb dropped by a U.S. aircraft over Afghanistan killed four Canadian soldiers during training exercises after the fall of the Taliban. The "friendly fire" deaths of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry members, who were carrying out a live-ammunition drill at the time, prompted a nine-day U.S. military tribunal into the actions of the two pilots who released the laser-guided bomb. Despite their apologies, one of the families filed a wrongful death claim against the American government. (AP/Diether Endischer)

A WALL OF SNOW. By the time they knew it was coming, it was too late. A major avalanche buried seven 15-year-olds from the Calgary area while on a school-sponsored skiing expedition. They died in Glacier National Park, near Revelstoke, B.C., where four Canadians and three Americans were swallowed up by another avalanche two weeks earlier. (CP/Adrian Wyld)

I LIKE THE BIG CHAIR. Jean Chrétien doesn't seem all that interested in giving up his job any time soon, much to the chagrin of PM-in-waiting Paul Martin and many Liberal MPs. The former finance minister, who was booted from cabinet by Chrétien in June, will probably have to wait until February 2004, the date the PM has set for his formal departure. (CP/Tom Hanson)

GIVE ME THAT TIARA BACK. Ottawa's Lynsey Bennett was stripped of her diamond-studded crown and her duties as Miss Canada International after pageant officials cited a lack of commitment. Bennett, a 22-year-old Carlton University geography and French student, made headlines when she was the first contestant to leave the Miss World pageant in Nigeria, after the event sparked deadly riots. (AP/Alastair Grant)

QUESTIONS OVER KYOTO. Environment Minister David Anderson took centre stage as debate raged over whether to support the controversial Kyoto Accord. Canada signed on, committing itself to lowering greenhouse gases by as much as 30 per cent between 2008 to 2012. But critics claim Kyoto will cost the economy billions of dollars and thousands of jobs. (CP/Fred Chartrand)

TOUGH YEAR ON THE FARM. Severe drought and the worst outbreak of grasshoppers in a decade left many Western Canadian farmers desperate. Not only was the year's total wheat production one of the smallest since 1974, but the unseasonable weather, including snow and below-zero temperatures in some areas, seriously affected crop quality, prompting aid shipments from Central Canada. (CP/Adrian Wyld)

B.C. HORROR. Robert Pickton, a 53-year-old Port Coquitlam, B.C., pig farmer, could be the worst serial killer in Canadian history. He is accused of killing at least 15 women from Vancouver's seamy Downtown Eastside. The farm was the site of a massive police excavation. (CP/Chuck Stoddy)

Canadian Events

WORLD'S YOUTH UNITE. Whether helping the elderly cross the street, working at local food banks or singing on subway and streetcars, the World Youth Day pilgrims made their presence known during their mid-July visit to Toronto. More than 200,000 from 172 countries flocked to the city for the Catholic Church's event to attend seminars, do good deeds and catch a glimpse of Pope John Paul II. (CP/AP/Stephan Savola)

NOT JUST ANY OLD GRANDMOTHER. At every stop on Queen Elizabeth's 12-day tour of Canada, thousands of well-wishers lined up to see their favourite member of British royalty. First stop for the 76-year-old, who was celebrating her 50th anniversary on the throne, was Nunuvut, the only part of Canada she had not yet visited in her previous 18 visits. Later, she got the red carpet treatment in Vancouver at a Canucks game.

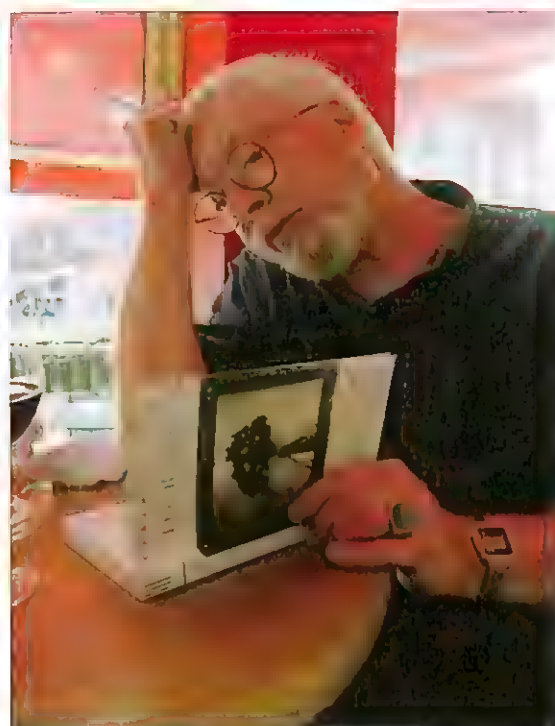

MACLEAN'S/Peter Bregg

A MIRACLE. Former B.C. Premier Mike Harcourt, who led the province during the early '90s, did more than survive a six-metre-high fall from a cliff which crushed his spine. Surprising the medical profession, he has made a spectacular recovery although he may not be able to walk without assistance. (CP/Wick Procylo)

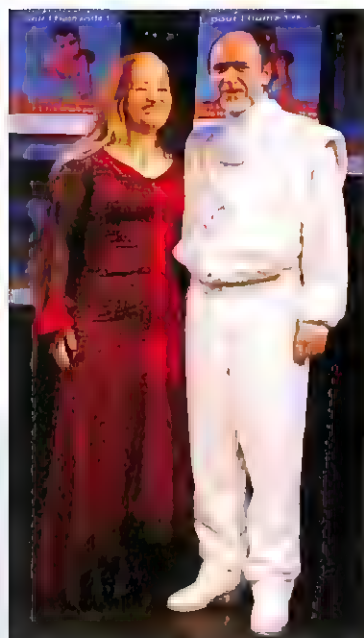

KILLER BITE. A 70-year-old man from Mississauga, Ont., became the first person to die of the mosquito-borne West Nile virus after contracting the disease in Canada. Wildlife experts claim that West Nile is also killing birds by the tens of thousands in the United States and Canada. About 110 species have been affected since the virus was first discovered in North America in 1999. (CP/Rene Johnston)

IN MEMORIAM. Known as "Tiff," author Timothy Findley, 71, was the internationally-acclaimed author of The Wars and Headhunter. (CP/Simon Wilson)

Peter Gzowski, 67, was a writer-broadcaster and the voice of Canada as the longtime host of CBC Radio's Morningside. (MACLEAN'S/Peter Bregg)

PROVE IT. That's what critics were saying to Clonaid—the firm associated with the Quebec-based Raelian cult lead by Claude Vorilhon (right)—which claimed to have produced the world's first cloned baby. The alleged first, a girl named Eve, was born on Dec. 26, but the cult's scientific director, Brigitte Boisselier (left), declined DNA tests that would prove whether she is an exact genetic copy of her mother. (CP/Andre Forget)

FINALLY, SOME FRESH FACES. Jack Layton took up the reins of Canada's left-leaning NDP in a year that will see the old guard tossed aside for some fresh political faces. The Progressive Conservatives—and, of course, the governing Liberals—are also choosing new leaders later this year. (CP/Kevin Prayci)

NORAH, WHO? After sweeping the Grammy Awards with five prizes, including best album of the year, Norah Jones left many wondering where she came from. The 23-year-old daughter of famous sitar player Ravi Shankar and former dancer Sue Jones won over the judges and fans with her smooth sound on Come Away With Me, her debut album. (AP/Kathy Willens)

NOT JUST A SK8R GIRL. Avril Lavigne is a teen rarity. Just months after she left her hometown of Napanee, Ont., Lavigne landed firmly in super stardom. The 18-year-old pop-punk singer blew the industry away with her multi-platinum debut, Let Go. Lavigne, who received a remarkable five Grammy and six Juno nominations for her rookie season, has brought teen angst to a new level. Don't smile Avril, you might ruin your rep. (CP/Dana Ede son)

BONO'S IN GOOD COMPANY. Always willing to use his rock-celebrity status to forward philanthropic and political causes, U2 lead singer Bono has earned a spot on the short list for the 2003 Nobel Peace Prize. Always outspoken about world issues, Bono discussed international aid for developing nations at the World Economic Forum in New York in February and has campaigned against AIDS in Africa and the struggle for peace in his Irish homeland. The 42-year-old joins Pope John Paul II and former Czech President Vaclav Havel on the list. (AP/Francois Mori)

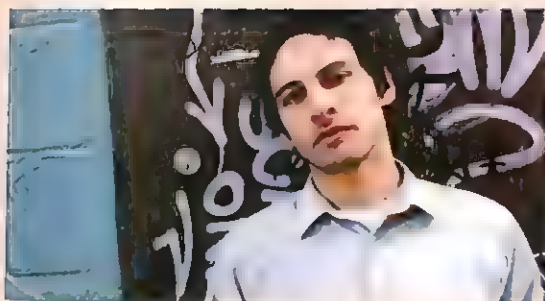

KRALL BATTLES BACK FROM A TOUGH YEAR. Diana Krall's new beau, punk rocker Elvis Costello, and a Grammy for best jazz vocal album for Live In Paris helped dull some of the pain from a year in which the native of Nanaimo, B.C., lost her mother. Krall, 38, opted to release a live album—recorded at the Paris Olympia—instead of one with new material following her 60-year-old mother's death from cancer. (CP/Anthony Harvey)

A LONG WAY FROM TIMMINS. You would think Shania Twain has it all, with 50 million records sold worldwide, a 19th century chateau in Switzerland, a happy marriage and a new son, Eja. But the pop star from small town Ontario proved she wasn't done yet when she released Up!, her first album of new material since 1997. She even headlined the Super Bowl halftime show. (AP/PA Spencer Green)

ADDING TO THEIR SUCCESS. Sum 41's exciting brand of power pop continued with the release of Does This Look Infected?—which went platinum within only a couple of weeks after its release. The four guys from Ajax, Ont., were regulars on the music charts and toured North America extensively with their over-the-top style of not-quite punk music.

BROTHER IS NO LONGER DOWN. After getting an English degree from McGill University, travelling a bit and then toiling in music obscurity, Sam Roberts exploded into success. His six-song EP, The Inhuman Condition, featuring Brother Down, has made a lot of people excited about the 28-year-old's first full-length album due out this summer. (CP)

SHE PLAYS WELL WITH OTHERS. Although making a splash by joining forces with rappers Fat Joe and Ja Rule on a couple of singles last year, Ashanti proved she could do it alone as well. With her first single, Foolish, at the top of Billboard's R and B charts, the New York City-based singer sold four million copies of her self-titled debut album—including 500,000 in its first week of release. (AP/Richard Drew)

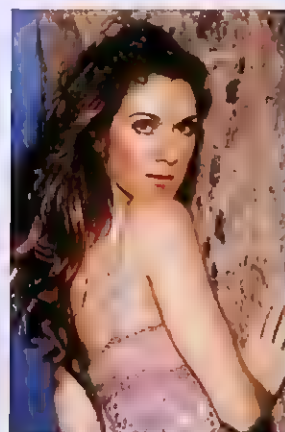

AT PEACE WITH THEMSELVES. After selling millions of albums worldwide, Our Lady Peace needed a change. So the Toronto-based band, headed by vocalist Raine Maida, escaped to Maui and the studio of their new producer Bob Rock. The result from a few days in the sun was OLP's fifth album, Gravity, which garnered four nominations at this year's Juno awards—including album of the year. (CP/Aaron Harris)

PRAIRIE SOUL. Remy Shand was not your typical Winnipeg teenager. While his friends were rocking out to Guns N' Roses and Bon Jovi, Shand was listening to Marvin Gaye and Stevie Wonder. No wonder the 24-year-old has earned comparisons to the Motown legends with his very soulful debut, The Way I Feel. Shand wrote and laid down all the album's tracks at his home studio. He even played all the instruments, including the guitar, bass, keyboards, drums and saxophone. (CP)

CAPTAIN CONTROVERSY. By showbiz terms, Eminem did it all last year. His second album, The Eminem Show, was met with critical acclaim and became the biggest selling disc of the year. He was strong in his big-screen debut starring opposite Kim Basinger in 8 Mile—a box office success and Oscar winner for his song Lose Yourself. All the while, he seemed to put his bad boy reputation in the closet. (AP/Mark J. Terrill)

QUEEN CELINE. Canadian megastar Celine Dion released One Heart on the same day she debuted her new Las Vegas show. The act, which will take up residence at Caesar's Palace, will perform 200 times annually for three years. Could her next big stop be Ontario's Casino Rama? (PC/Radio-Canada)

PINK KNOWS HOW TO PARTY. Pink had one of last year's biggest musical anthems with Get the Party Started. And with Missundaztood, her follow-up album to her 2000 release of Can't Take Me Home. The wild-haired 23-year-old from Philadelphia delves into family troubles, loneliness and how annoying she can be to herself on her latest disc. (CP/Anthony Harvey)

NOT JUST A GUITAR GEEK. While the comparisons to Eric Clapton may be a bit of an exaggeration, Room for Squares turned John Mayer into one of the biggest surprise hits of 2002. The 25-year-old native of Fairfield, Conn., took home a Grammy for best male pop vocal performance and he even dated actress Jennifer Love-Hewitt for part of the year. (AP/Mark Lennihan)

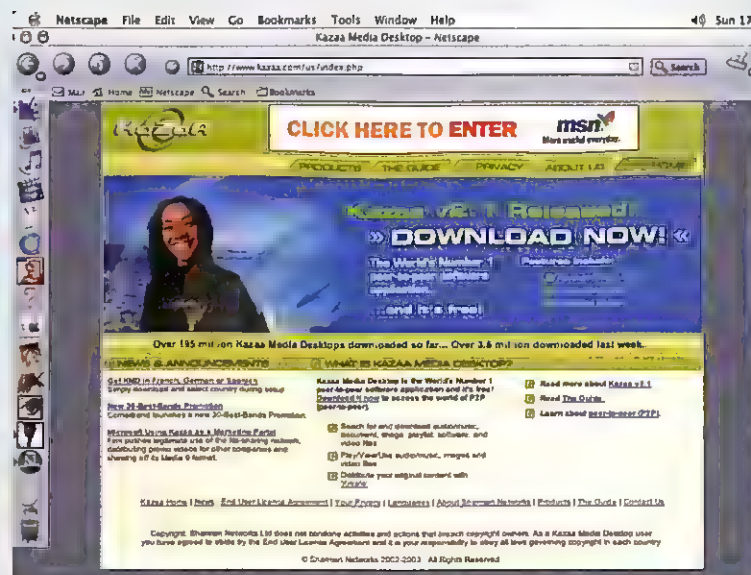

LET ME CHECK MY PALM. More and more people are throwing away their address and phone books and replacing them with Personal Digital Assistants. PDAs are also great for downloading articles, pictures and other information from the Web. Thanks to competition, the price on these once expensive organizers has dropped substantially, to less than $150 for a basic model. Sure beats writing on your hand. (AP/Mark Duncan)

WHAT'S OLD IS NEW AGAIN. Although they've long been a popular choice for DJs, it seems that LPs are increasing in popularity for listeners interested in getting a more raw sound. More and more people are searching through bins at used record shops for old school tunes or picking up their favourite contemporary stars' music on freshly cut albums. What's next? Return of the eight track?

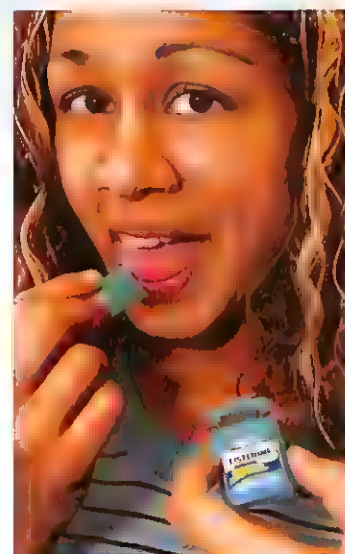

(MACLEAN & Peter Breggi)

MAKING A STATEMENT. Tattooing and body piercing have become all the rage for teens—and much to the chagrin of parents, no body part is off limits. Laser removal can be very expensive, resulting in many teens opting for a less permanent tattoo that wears off over time. Luckily, body piercing holes heal themselves.

BATTLING WITH MUSIC PIRATES. In an effort to stop Internet users from downloading music for free, major record labels have set up Internet sites offering songs on-line—at a premium, of course. Not surprisingly, most people are staying away from these pricey options since free sites, like the popular file-sharing program Kazaa, continue to offer quick access to all your music needs. (CP/Ruth Bonnevillie)

DON'T GO ON A DATE WITHOUT THEM. And do give them to that guy beside you in class with that not-so-fresh breath. The Cool Mint Listerine PocketPaks come in tiny packs of 24 tissue-thin strips that melt in your mouth and deliver a breath-freshening punch.

(MACLEAN & Peter Breggi)

TWO MINUTES FOR DAD. Abusive behaviour at children's sporting events has been on the rise in recent years, but in most cases it's not the kids throwing punches or verbal assaults. Instead, it's the parents who have trouble keeping control of their tempers. Sportsmanship classes for moms and dads are now common. Soon, there'll be homework and staying after school for such bad behaviour.

REMEMBER KIDS...NOT EVERYTHING ON TV IS REAL.

The cops and forensic experts such as Warrick Brown (Garry Dourdon, above) on CSI: Crime Scene Investigation have continued to mesmerize viewers, landing some of the top ratings in TV land. Using a wad of chewed gum, a small trace of lipstick or a fiber in a carpet, the CSI team is able to solve complicated criminal cases. (CP/CTV)

EIGHT SIMPLE RULES FOR REJUVENATING A CAREER.

John Ritter must have followed every one of them because the one-time star of Three's Company has come back in a big way with 8 Simple Rules for Dating my Teenage Daughter. Ritter, who plays dad Paul Hennessy, has a tough time dealing with his girls growing up. The result: real-life situations that both parents and teens can laugh at. (CP/CTV)

DOING IT FOR THE MONEY? WE DON'T CARE.

Yes, their $2.3 million per episode salary may be one reason the cast of Friends keep coming back, but fans aren't complaining. High ratings encouraged a 10th hilarious season with promises that this will be the last. Regardless, the six-member cast, who are now household names, will keep the stream of jokes coming and probably stay on the small screen indefinitely, thanks to re-runs. (AP/Reed Saxon)

EVERY WIFE'S NIGHTMARE—THE INLAWS!! The numbers are in, and while not everyone loves Raymond, he's doing all right. In its fifth season, Everybody Loves Raymond, starring comedian Ray Romano (left) as the lovable sports writer Ray Romano, still charts in near the top of the ratings. Laughs come easily thanks to Ray's dysfunctional relationships with his wife, parents (father played by Peter Boyle, centre), and brother (Brad Garrett, right). (AP/Marty Brinton)

Television

NOT MY REALITY. Even though we laugh at how far reality television is from, well, reality, we can't keep from watching. And TV producers are quick to provide us with more. Some of the season's favourites included The Bachelor and The Bachelorette (bottom left), in which a person picked a fiancé(e) from a host of hunks and honeys. In Joe Millionaire (right), a construction worker pretended to be a millionaire to woo unsuspecting gold diggers. And then there was American Idol (top left), in which the viewing public chose the next big musical talent. Yeah, sure. Meanwhile, the Survivor series continued in the Amazon.

THE COOLEST MAN IN A CARDIGAN AND SLIPPERS.

Fred Rogers, whose songs and stories on his television program Mister Rogers' Neighborhood helped teach generations of children how to get along, died at the age of 74. The Presbyterian minister from Latrobe, Pa., first developed the concept when he created a 15-minute show on CBC called Misterogers in the late sixties. He took that concept back to Pittsburgh, where the show had its public broadcasting debut in 1968.

Movies

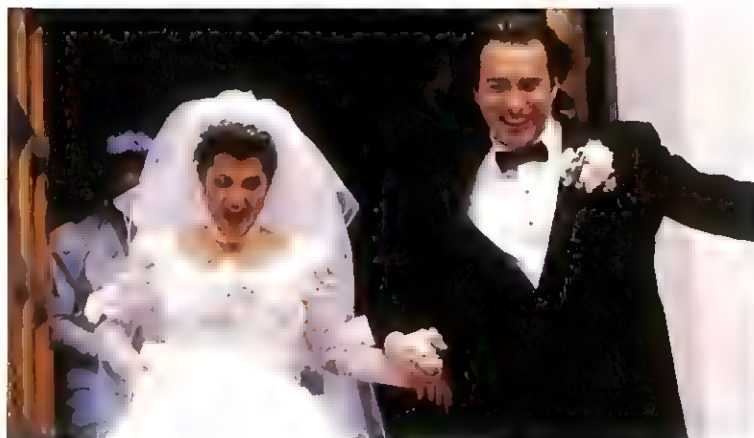

ALL THAT JAZZ. The Hollywood adaptation of the classic Broadway musical Chicago exploded on screen with energized performances from Catherine Zeta-Jones, Renée Zellweger and Richard Gere. The film won six Oscars, including best picture and best supporting actress for Zeta-Jones (above), who plays an aging stage star.

NOW YOU SEE ME. In Catch Me If You Can, Leonardo DiCaprio (above) stars as Frank W. Abagnale Jr., a real-life debonair imposter who, in the late 1960s, successfully impersonated an airline pilot, a lawyer and a Harvard-educated pediatrician. Tom Hanks plays the FBI agent determined to catch the young crook who has been able to cash millions of dollars in fraudulent cheques before his 21st birthday. Steven Spielberg, as always, does a fine job playing the director.

LORD OF THE ADAPTATION. Picking up where the first Lord of the Rings left off, Peter Jackson's The Two Towers throws the remaining members of the Fellowship into the increasing chaos of Middle-Earth, which is now fully under siege by the forces of Sauron and Saruman. Jackson proves a master in recreating the world introduced by author J.R.R. Tolkien. The film's special effects, which took home an Oscar, are candy to the eyes. (AP/Pierre Vinet)

A BIG FAT SURPRISE. Winnipeg-born Nia Vardalos shocked the movie world with her incredible breakout hit My Big Fat Greek Wedding. The most talked about movie of the year, which tells how Toula (Vardalos), a 30-year-old single daughter in a very Greek family, falls in love with and marries a non-Greek (John Corbett), garnered a Best Screenplay Oscar nomination and a Golden Globe nomination for Vardalos. It also spawned a prime time TV series (My Big Fat Greek Life) and $355 million at the box office. (CP)

THE POTTER PHENOMENON. Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe, left) and his pals Ron Weasley (Rupert Grint) and Hermione Granger (Emma Watson, right) are the only ones who can save Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry from the evil forces that conspire against it in The Chamber of Secrets. The second movie installment of the Harry Potter series by J.K. Rowling (above) proved much darker than the first and, at 161 minutes, left some wondering if they could have read the book faster. JACK'S BACK. After saying goodbye to his job and wife of 42 years—who dies in the early scenes of About Schmidt—Warren Schmidt (Jack Nicholson) embarks on a journey of self-discovery aboard a motorhome. Destination: Denver, where his estranged daughter is about to marry a mullet-haired waterbed salesman.

THE SUIT'S PRETTY TIGHT. Tobey Maguire did a nice job fitting into Spider-Man's suit and also brought a lot of heart to the comic book role. Willem Dafoe plays the Green Goblin, Spider-Man's nemesis to a tee, putting the young Spider-Man's vow to fight crime and help innocent people to the test. Kirsten Dunst helps to round out the cast as Mary Jane Watson, Parker's long-time crush. (AP/Doug Hyun)

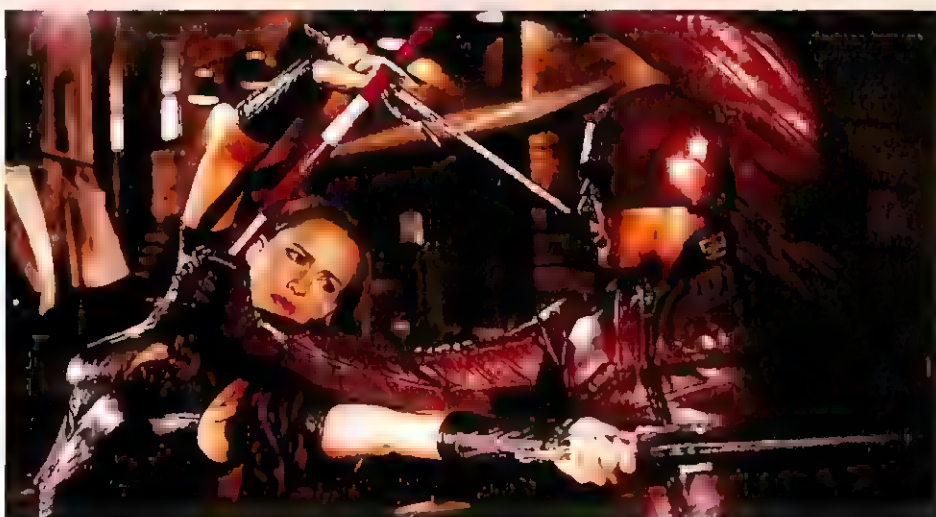

DIESEL IS EXPLOSIVE. Imagine a pierced, tattooed, skateboarding and video-game playing spy working for the U.S. government to gather information on an organization that may be planning the destruction of the world. That's Xander Cage (Vin Diesel) in XXX, a high octane flick that didn't exactly shoot the lights out at the box office. Nevertheless, a sequel is on the way.

YEAH, BABY! Scarborough, Ont., native Mike Myers brings back a host of favourite characters—including Dr. Evil, Mini Me and Austin Powers—for Goldmember, the sequel to the hilarious first installment of Austin Powers. Looking for plot? Don't bother. But if you like slapstick, Mike Myers is your man. The film also boasts a host of cameos, including Tom Cruise, Gwyneth Paltrow and Britney Spears.

BATTLING. Ben Affleck is a night-roving blind superhero and his girlfriend, Elektra (Jennifer Garner), is a martial arts master in the action-adventure flick Daredevil. Together the pair battle the forces of evil, until forced to join opposite sides. Colin Farrell co-stars and steals a number of scenes from the dynamic duo. (AP/Zade Rosenthal)

SHOPLIFTER, INTERRUPTED.

Actress Winona Ryder was found guilty of stealing more than US$5,500 worth of merchandise from a Beverly Hills Saks Fifth Avenue store. The judge ordered the star of Girl, Interrupted and Reality Bites to pay $10,000 in fines and restitution and perform 480 hours of community service.

JUST ONE OF THE BOYS. Doing her part to smash the gender barriers in pro-sports, Hayley Wickenheiser, 24, laced them up for a team in the Finnish Hockey Federation's third division. The native of Shaunavon, Sask., has stood up to the physical aspect of the game as the team's third-line centre and is a mainstay of the women's national team that has won seven straight world titles. (AP/Heikki Saukkomaa)

THE WINNIPEG ROCKET. Winnipeg's Cindy Klassen, who won bronze at last year's Salt Lake City Olympics, added the 2003 all-around speed skating title to her growing list of achievements. Klassen, 23, ended Germany's eight-year monopoly on the women's all-around title, consisting of four races between 500 m and 5,000 m over two days. Klassen did it without winning any of the events, getting bronze in the 1,500 m and 5,000 m, and silver in the 500 m and 3,000 m.

GOLDEN GIRL. Melanie Turgeon ended a decade-long skiing drought for Canadian women by winning the downhill at the World Alpine Ski Championships in St. Moritz, Switzerland. The 26-year-old from Lac Beauport, Que., became the first women's winner since Kate Pace won gold in Mroioika, Japan. (AP/Michael Probst)

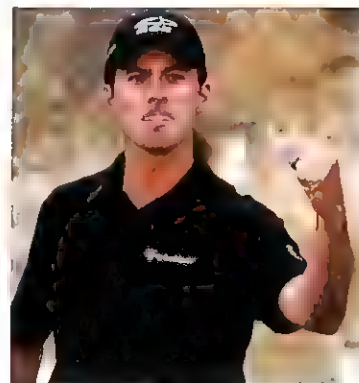

ALS RUIN DAY FOR HOMETOWN ESKS. The Montreal Alouettes staved off a late Edmonton comeback charge for a 25-16 win in the Grey Cup. In front of 62,531 fans in Edmonton's Commonwealth Stadium, the hometown Esks rallied from an 11-0 halftime deficit. But the comeback fell short, resulting in a record-tying fifth CFL championship for head coach Don Matthews and Montreal's first Grey Cup win since 1977. (CP/Ryan Remiorz)

CURLING SHEET DYNASTY.

Colleen Jones proved that she is as good as it gets when it comes to Canadian curling. The 42-year-old skip led her Nova Scotia team to its fourth national title in five years. The win marked Jones's fifth first-place finish, which is more national titles than any other skip in Canadian history. (CP/Kevin Frayer)

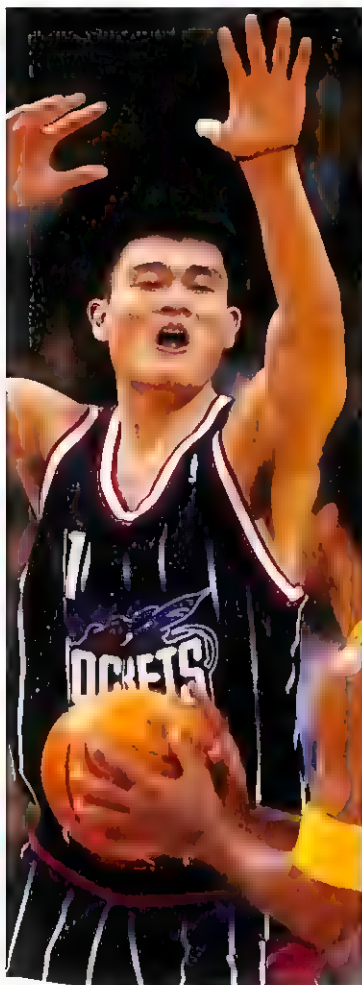

WEIR REBOUNDS. After a horrible 2002 season, Mike Weir, a native of Bright's Cove, Ont., near Sarnia, exploded onto this year's PGA tour with two big wins. In February, the 33-year-old won the Bob Hope Classic and the Nissan Open—his fourth and fifth wins of his six-year career. Those two events lifted him atop the PGA earnings heap with more than US$2 million with 10 months left in the year.

WHO NEEDS A UNION WHEN YOU HAVE A FAN CLUB. The fuss over stalled contract negotiations between Ron MacLean and Hockey Night in Canada quickly moved from the sports pages to the front page. When the dust settled, the affable MacLean cashed in with a new salary of about $450,000 a year, ensuring that Don Cherry would not be without a straight man on HNIC's Coach's Corner. (CP)

ASIAN SENSATION. Seven-foot-six-inch centre Yao Ming was the talk of the National Basketball Association in his rookie season with the Houston Rockets. So much so that the 22-year-old Ming's success has made China a new hotbed of NBA talent. Houston games are picked up on satellite TV throughout the country and there is talk of some 100 other NBA caliber seven-footers toiling in Chinese pro leagues. (AP/Mark W. Terrill)

I THOUGHT HE WAS A GOAL SCORER?!? Pittsburgh Penguin centre Mario Lemieux became only the 10th player in NHL history to amass 1,000 assists. The injury-plagued 37-year-old Lemieux, who is better known for his ability to put the puck in the net, is expected to retire before next season. (AP/Gene J. Puskar)

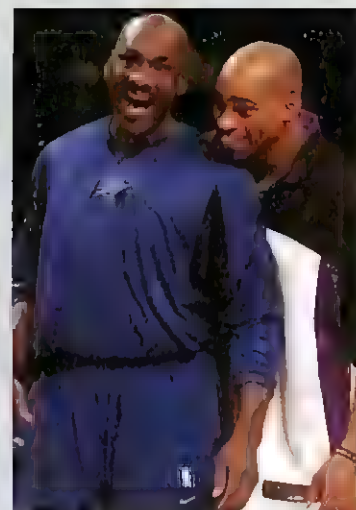

THE BEST DEFENCE IS OFFENCE. Jon Gruden, 39, became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl ring when his Tampa Bay Buccaneers destroyed the Oakland Raiders—the team Gruden coached in 2001—by a 48 to 21 score. The Bucs and their top-ranked defence proved too much for the Raiders' No.1 ranked offence, returning three of a record five interceptions for touchdowns. (AP/Chris O'Meara)

SLUGGER HONOURED. Toronto Blue Jays third baseman Eric Hinske, 25, turned around an error-prone first half in which he made 16 miscues—and slugged his way to the American League Rookie of the Year Award. He hit .279 with 24 home runs and 84 RBIs and was the first Blue Jay so honoured since shortstop Alfredo Griffin took home the prize in 1979. (CP/Aaron Harris)

SORRY SIS. Serena Williams won her fourth consecutive Grand Slam tournament by defeating older sister Venus at the Australian Open in January. Serena, 21, adds the Aussie Grand Slam title to the French Open, U.S. Open and Wimbledon crowns she won last year—all against her 22-year-old sister. (AP/Michel Euler)

CHANGING OF THE GUARD. For weeks, Toronto Raptor Vince Carter (right) took a lot of heat for not offering his starting spot in the NBA All-Star game to Michael Jordan, who was making his final appearance in the mid-season event. Carter, who was voted by fans to the team even though he had played only 10 games in the season's first half due to injuries, redeemed himself moments before the opening whistle by giving up his spot to Air Jordan who went on to score 20 points. FOR THE SPY WHO HAS EVERYTHING. Why not a phone tooth? Yes, thanks to two British researchers there's a prototype for a tiny phone which can be embedded in a molar and receive cellphone calls. The signals are translated into vibrations that travel from the tooth to your inner ear. Wannabe James Bonds, take note. (CP/Peter J. Jordan)

PRETTY HANDY IDEA. After watching a deaf woman struggle to order food at a Burger King, high school student Ryan Patterson decided to create a device that translates sign language into text. By wiring a leather golf glove, the 18-year-old developed the Braille Glove, which senses its wearer's hand movements and transmits them to a tiny monitor, where they appear as words. (Siemens Foundation)

DUST BUNNIES BEWARE. Put your feet up folks, Roomba—the first automatic vacuum—is about to take the labour out of cleaning. The device, which runs on rechargeable batteries, roams your house on its own, in search of dirt and dust. Sensors prevent the dirt eater, which is about three times the size of a discman, from bumping into walls and furniture or falling down stairs. It even turns itself off. If only it knew how to cook dinner. (Jens Mortensen)

MOUSE CAN'T SQUEAK BY SUPREME COURT. While the rest of the Western world is fine with it, a Supreme Court ruling has denied patent protection in Canada to Harvard's OncoMouse, used in cancer research around the globe. The ruling—which broadly prohibits the patenting of any higher life form—was devastating for many Canadian companies awaiting patents on plants and animals. They claim that the ruling threatens to stifle biotechnological research in Canada, by depriving researchers of legal protection for their inventions.

WHAT WAS THAT, FIDO? Like to know what your dog's been trying to tell you all these years? Japanese toy maker Takara claims it can help with Bowlingual. A radio microphone attaches to your dog's collar, and a handheld receiver "translates" his growls and whines into such phrases as "how boring" and "I'm lonely." When your dog barks, the sound is beamed to the handheld and matched to the database of thousands of dog sounds. Hopefully, you'll like what your best friend has to say. (AP/Julie Jacobson)
